And There Were Many Others

One who saw the friendly, faithful service Anne Barrows gave the USO has written the following tribute, and it is well deserved. The story of her devotion to the job parallels the story of many other workers and volunteers who made Carmel USO one of the finest in the country. —W. C.

With the handing over of the keys of the Carmel USO on Tuesday, the curtain dropped on the activities of one who had seen three USO directors come and go; the only one who began with the USO and finished with it.

There were tears in the eyes of Anne Barrows as she closed the door for the last time. Her service for USO began at a desk in an office on Dolores Street, where she and Grace Lawrie counseled the lonely, bewildered soldiers.

But as their numbers increased, larger space was found in the building belonging to the American Legion. Helen McKinstry and Hazel Dale were the new staff, with Anne Barrows still at her desk, smiling a welcome through the open Dutch door to all who approached. That smile never waned, though the cokes for the boys might be late and she had to fetch them by hand, though entertainers failed at the last moment and new talent had to be found; (Continued on Page Four)

Fertig Ranch Latest Sale In Carmel Valley

The Carmel Valley ranch belonging to Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Fertig was purchased this week by Floyd C. MacFarlane of Monterey and Frank B. Porter of Robles del Rio. The ranch, which was originally a part of the old Del Monte Rancho, consists of 85 acres. Price involved was in the neighborhood of $100,000.

Mr. and Mrs. MacFarlane plan to live in the ranch house and keep some 15 acres of the estate, and the balance of the land will be subdivided by the new owners.

The Del Monte Rancho was purchased by Mr. Fertig in 1926, and 10 years later the original buildings and some 1100 acres on the north side of the Valley road were sold to Mrs. Muriel Vanderbilt Adams. The home, ranch buildings and modern stables on the Fertig ranch were built at that time.

The Del Monte Rancho was sold by Mrs. Adams to Frank Porter and his son, Paul Porter, a few weeks ago. This, in turn, was split up, and the part of the place containing the buildings and swimming pool was sold to Gerald Griffin and James Ross, Jr., for dude ranch purposes.

Mr. and Mrs. Fertig plan to make their new headquarters at their Santa Barbara home, purchased some time ago.

Mrs. Irene Baldwin, Robles del Rio real estate agent, handled the sale of the Fertig ranch.

Carmel will celebrate Flag Day today in its own manner, the merchants putting their flags out along the sidewalk but keeping their places of business open to accommodate their customers and the out of town vacationers as usual.

The banks will be closed, since Governor Warren has declared this Flag Day, because it is the Centennial Year, a state holiday.

The post office will not be closed because Flag Day is not a federal holiday, and in the matter of state holidays the post-master uses his discretion. "Unless over half of the business places of the town close and make it a real holiday, I feel we aren't justified in closing," said Postmaster Ernest Bixler.

GETTING AROUND THE PENINSULA

WITH BETH

Peninsula listeners who have heard the Queen for a Day program during the past year and more will have a chance to see the program in person, as a part of the Centennial celebration. (What will Ed Cochran think of next?) At 10 o'clock on July 5, this show will be staged on Alvarado street, near the Customs House, and five or six lucky women will be selected to compete for the day's title. As queen, she will receive the usual extravagant gifts, and will also ride on the Centennial float in the parade on the evening of July 6.

Fred Kane will be the operating manager of the Monterey airport, it was announced this week by C. S. Olmsted, chairman of the airport board. Kane will be remembered here as co-operator of the airfield several years ago, before it was taken over by the Navy. He

P. G. Summer School Opens Monday For 6-Weeks' Session

Summer session of Pacific Grove high school opens Monday in the school buildings with regular courses this summer being supplemented by six-week courses in both art and music.

The school will be attended not only by high school students desiring additional credits but also by foreign-born persons studying for naturalization examinations and other adults who are interested in the many subjects being offered. Among them are crafts, a nature study, marine biology, mathematics, chemistry, physics, history, English and many other subjects.

Director of the six-weeks' art class will be John Cunningham, head of the Carmel Art Institute.

has recently been returned to inactive duty by the Army Air Corps. During the war, he served in Alaska, where it was his duty to check out planes heading for Siberia and train Russian pilots.

A group of about 12 officers and 75 enlisted men, almost all of them Nisei, arrived Tuesday at the Presidio of Monterey as the first contingent of the Military Intelligence Language School. Some 1200 more are expected to arrive before the end of June. Civil administration and instruction in Japanese will be given at the school and the course will last about nine months. Graduates will be sent to Japan to act as interpreters, administrators and other occupation force duties.

Where are visitors going to stay during the Centennial? Everyone is asking this question, but as yet the answers are not forthcoming. Nonetheless, the celebration will be one of the biggest in the state's history, and not the least of the four-day party will be participation by the U. S. Navy. On July 4, from 2 to 3 p. m., 100 Navy and Marine planes will stage a gigantic show over Monterey Bay. A number of large Naval vessels will lie at anchor in the bay, and arrangements have been made for visitors to board the vessels during each afternoon.

Three Carmelites have received recognition for their literary efforts in short story form recently. The first, as reported in last week's Pine Cone, is Homer Levinson, who sold his first short story to Esquire. "A Swim at Sunset" appears in the July issue, now on the newsstands, and a foreword in the contents of the issue (Continued on page Two)

Neighbors Fight, Circulate Petition Over Cut-through Of Lincoln St. At Ravine

Property owners in the region of Fourth and Lincoln Streets are circulating a petition not to have Lincoln Street cut through the ravine. They are also subjecting Mrs. Melle T. Brewer to a great deal of mental suffering by refusing to discuss Lincoln Street with her, or even to say "good morning."

They say that she is the one who asked the city council to have Lincoln Street cut through at Fourth, which would mean the removal of the rustic bridge that has carried foot traffic across the ravine since Mary Austin days. It would destroy much of the charm of the wooded glen and it would cost the property owners a lot of money in street work assessments.

So the neighbors aren't speaking to Mrs. Brewer. And Mrs. Brewer says it is a great injustice because she did not ask the city council to run Lincoln Street through the Fourth Street Gulch. That she never even thought of such a thing. "All I asked was that the street department come up and scrape the lane leading up the ravine from Monte Verde so cars could drive up Fourth to Lincoln," Mrs. Brewer told the Pine Cone. "I've been doing that every year for twenty years, and nothing like this has ever happened before."

The trouble is, the matter got to the official attention of the city council instead of by-passing that body and going directly to the street department.

The city council couldn't officially order the street department to go scrape the lane—because somebody made a mistake back in the dim reaches of the past and laid out the lane so that it ambles over private property. And the land that should be the Fourth Street Lane is somebody's garden. This happened so long ago that few know about it and nobody cares.

"Every year, when I call up, they always say they can't scrape the lane because it is on private property, then they come on down and scrape it anyway."

Then where did the neighbors get the idea that Mrs. Brewer had asked to have Lincoln Street cut through? They misread it in the Pine Cone. The Pine Cone said: "In response to the request of Mrs. Melle T. Brewer and other property owners for the city to provide access to their homes at Lincoln and Fourth, it was the opinion of the council that the only way such (Continued on page 14)

Ventana Country To Remain Open To Permit Holders

Fire season closure in the national forests of the California region goes into effect July 1 and remains effective until end of the fire season, December 1. Areas with recognized high fire danger and watershed value but lacking adequate roads for effective fire control will be affected.

The area south of Carmel embracing the Big Sur river, and Ventana mountains will be open this year under an experimental permit system with registrars located at the main entrances to the area at Big Sur, Chews Ridge, Arroyo Seco and Carmel Guard Station.

Maps showing open and closed areas may be obtained by writing Forest Supervisor, Los Padres National Forest, Federal Building, Santa Barbara.

Ann Nash's 4th Murder Mystery Out This Fall

Anne Nash, Carmel Valley resident who formerly lived in Carmel, has received notice from her publishers, Doubleday and Company, that her fourth mystery has been accepted and will be published in November. The title of the latest opus is Unhappy Rendezvous.

Miss Nash's first successful mystery, Said with Flowers, had as its setting, the flower shop on Dolores street which she operated with Miss Dorothy Bassett. Her knowledge of the retail side of the flower business, to say nothing of the demanding public, was responsible for the highly authentic background of the tale. A disguised Carmel is the town Miss Nash uses in this and other volumes. A few months ago, this first book was reprinted in a pocket edition.

Titles of the other two mysteries are Death by Design and Cabbages and Crime. This latter one has been reprinted both in Great Britain and France.

An indefatigable worker, Miss Nash is already hard at work on another whodunnit. Incidentally, Unhappy Rendezvous is a Doubleday Crime Club selection.

F. D. Asks Signal Change; Pine Cone Will Answer Phone

After considerable campaigning, the "one toot" party in the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department won over the other members. At the last business meeting the group voted to instruct the fire chief to request the city council to approve the following innovation in the fire signal system:

That when a fire has been put out and the equipment returns to the fire department, the siren will blow "one toot" so that the town and the members of the department will know that all is well.

Often, in the case of minor fires, the trouble is over before many of the volunteers can drop their work and get to the scene of operations. If the signal sounds promptly, they will be spared the necessity of interrupting their work needlessly.

It was also decided at the meeting that the department would not answer questions of citizens who are not connected with the department regarding fire calls. When the siren sounds, the switch board becomes so clogged with calls of people who want to hear about the fire that official business is impeded.

The Pine Cone has offered to take on these calls when they occur during business hours. The fire department will give information regarding fires as soon as possible to the Pine Cone and citizens may find out about the fire by calling Carmel 1 or 2.

CARMEL SOFTBALL LEAGUE

The furtive, scowling, suspicious looking characters you see around town this week, who look like 'rasslin' promoters, are probably the team managers for the Carmel Softball League who are busy proselytizing ball-and-bat talent for their respective teams.

The recreation program under the supervision of George Mosolf gets under way June 24 for adults as well as kids, and adult softball on Sunset Field under the lights will be an important item. Two games will be played in the league each week starting at 8:00 o'clock on dates which will be announced.

So far six teams have made entry into the league and possibly more will be formed before the pennant race pushes off. The teams at present are the Lions, Firemen, High School All Stars (formerly the Faculty), Policemen and the American Legion (two teams).

Last night a recreational meeting was held at Sunset school and rosters, regulations—no sassing Andy Del Monte, head umpire—and a schedule were tentatively drawn up.

Pine Cone to P. G.

The Carmel Pine Cone Softball Team goes to the mound tonight in Pacific Grove against the heavy-hitting Rasmussen's. Pine Cone snowed under P. S. E. A. in the opening game of the Grove League last week, but Rasmussen promises to give the Carmel team a workout (Beat them over here in practice game, some weeks ago. P. C.'s only defeat to date.) So Pine Cone can use plenty of rooting and horn tooting from home-town fans.

Next Monday the Pine Cone team will have a game at the Sunset field with the Salinas Pet Milk outfit at 8:00 o'clock and then return to Pacific Grove Tuesday night June 18th at 8:00 o'clock for another PG League game with the Monterey Eagles.

Alas, Cannonball!

As this is being written Thursday, Fort Ord is warming up on Sunset field for a third attempt to beat the Carmel Pine Cone. Last Friday's game with the Army was an epic of Gumm vs. Starns (cannonball in person) with Pine Cone's Gumm coming out the better with 15 strikeouts to his credit over Cannonball's 11. Though it was superb pitching on Gumm's part that kept the Army down to four hits and two runs, it was strategy on the part of Pine Cone's coach, George Mosolf, that dumped the unbeatable Cannonball for six runs and five hits, all in one inning. Nobody was hitting Cannonball as usual, and he had enjoyed striking out Pine Cone batters, one-two-three for two innings, when Huffman came to bat in the third to lay down a perfect bunt along the first base line, which he beat out, to arrive safe on first. On the first pitched ball to Gumm, Huffman was down to second. Gumm laid down a second bunt, and while Cannonball was making up his mind that the bright thing to do was to catch Huffman on his way to third, Gumm arrived at first and Huffman beat out the throw with a horizontal slide and a cloud of dust. Gumm was down to second on the first ball pitched to Stetson, then Stetson laid down yet another bunt. While Cannonball hovered over it, waiting for it to roll foul, which it didn't, Stetson reached first and Huffman and Gumm came (Continued from page 8)

Constance Bestor has had stories appear, during the past few months, in Story, Good Housekeeping and the Woman's Home Companion.

The Senate Naval Affairs Committee received plans for $28,700,000 Naval School at Del Monte on Wednesday, thus bringing the project closer to reality. The location is now under option for $2,107,000. The following two years he served in the South Pacific. Gordon has chosen for his best man his brother, Stanley, who is serving as Radioman 3/c at Treasure Island. His ushers are as yet not decided upon due to Naval orders.

The young couple plan to live in Palo Alto while Gordon attends the Graduate Schools of Business at Stanford.

Virginia will be the houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Ewig over the weekend. On Thursday, Gordon and his parents will go to Piedmont to attend the pre-nuptial parties.

New Weston Book Receives Puff From The New Yorker

A new volume on Edward Weston, Carmel's distinguished photographer, has recently been published by Simon and Schuster. The material for the volume was collected by Nancy Newhall under the sponsorship of the Museum of Modern Art, where an exhibit of his work was held this spring.

Of the volume, the New Yorker says: "Their choice is excellent and there are a half dozen (reproductions) at least that are close to high art."

There are 23 photographs shown in the volume.

Woman Voters League Accepts Male Members

A change in policy not anticipated by the founders twenty-six years ago was announced last week by Miss Anna Lord Strauss, national president of the League of Women Voters, at a meeting in Berkeley for officers and members of the organization throughout northern California. According to new by-laws adopted early in May, the membership now may include men, women, and children, the only condition for joining being that they desire more information about our government, local, state, and national. The name continues to be League of Women Voters, because women are the only voting members.

Organized immediately after women were given the ballot nationally, the League aimed to inform women in all lines of government, that they might become intelligent citizens awake to all the possibilities and implications of measures brought before the law-making bodies, as well as of laws already enacted. A definite program of study was adopted, calling upon experts for information, examining all available facts to determine the effect of proposed laws upon the welfare of the home and family. All information obtained was furnished to all members desiring it, in the form of mimeographed or printed leaflets, booklets, and charts at nominal prices, in addition to the brief periodicals issued for all members.

So valuable did these studies of public issues become, that men began to ask for them, consult them for information, and often adopt their suggested line of action. This finally led the national convention to expand the membership to include men and young persons interested in the League's purpose. Publication of the results of research in all the activities of government has become a major activity of the national body, promoting its avowed ideal of "the informed and active participation of citizens in government."

3 Dangerous Fires Started Through Sheer Carelessness

With the summer dry season approaching its peak, State Division of Forestry officials here stressed the need for diligent care in hazardous areas and pointed out that several fires during the past week have been started through sheer carelessness.

The most serious was the 50-acre blaze in the Airway Tract, Carmel Valley, which started in the vicinity of a group of workmen. Desultory efforts by the men to stop the blaze resulted in a raging inferno within a few minutes. Had it not been for bulldozers, working on a private project in the neighborhood, the fire would have become completely out of control. As it was, several homes in the district were threatened.

Residents on the opposite hillside noticed the blaze but did not report it immediately, as it was evident that a group of men were standing nearby. Later, however, dozens of reports were received at the Carmel Hill station, including reports from lookouts in Santa Cruz County and from Armsby Peak up Carmel Valley.

Many Valley residents turned out to fight the fire, and two truckloads of Carmel High School youths were sent up.

The second fire, in Carmel Woods on June 8, was started when Mrs. John Whitesides burned trash in an open-end incinerator without a permit, officials reported, but the blaze was quickly extinguished by the state fire crew.

The third started on the evening of June 10 in Del Monte Park, near the Country Club Gate, where a carelessly-thrown cigarette start-

Class of 1946 Rates In Sports And Scholarship

One of the highlights of the Carmel High School graduation exercises at Sunset Friday night was the presenting of the Gold C award to Martin Irwin and Joyce McKinstry for outstanding record in scholarship, athletics and citizenship. Qualifying for the award were Barbara Timmins, Pamela Dormody, Clayton Neill and Joan Dekker. A committee of three students and four faculty members made the final selection. It is a new award, the gift of principal Leo Harris. George Knapp, on behalf of the American Legion, which donated a shield on which are to be inscribed the names of the winners each year, presented the plaque at the exercises.

In addition to being the largest class to graduate from Carmel high school, 61, the class of 1946 was outstanding in all around achievement and ability. In athletics, 17 boys and 13 girls had won their athletic awards; 50 percent of the class. Twenty-three members of the class, or 37 percent were members of the California Honor Scholarship Federation, of these seven achieved seal bearer status, the highest scholarship award of the federation. They were: Douglas Calley, Pamela Dormody, Martin

Mrs. Skelly Plans To Open Nursery School, June 24

Concurrent with the opening of the Carmel Recreation Program, Mrs. Dorothy Skelley is opening a nursery school in the kindergarten room at Sunset, on June 24. It is a private venture, not part of the Recreation Program, and a moderate tuition will be charged.

New Gallery, Elwood Graham Show Stimulating Experience For Visitors

By PATRICIA CUNNINGHAM

On Oliver Street Saturday night a very large red door with light coming through as of a clear sunny day. Inside, a new world. Could it be 57th Street, New York? Certainly, with people about such as Ed Weston, the Salvadore Dalis, John O'Shea, Varda, etc., it could easily be. At last Monterey has a real art gallery with all the benefits of the years of experiments of dealers in how to show pictures. It is bound to be an influence on local display. It is wonderfully coincident with the Centennial. Its sophistication and the new Monterey street decor set one another off to distinction.

The showing of Elwood Graham's recent works is eminently appropriate to the contemporary awareness and forward looking vitality which Pat and Susan Wall have incorporated into their gallery. It is a rare opportunity to see a whole group of such paintings at once, but it will help the visitor who feels some confusion in his efforts to enjoy, to remember that an easel painting is meant to be seen by itself, and to be hung so as to enhance a wall surface of a whole room. In galleries where a lot of them are all massed together, they are really out of their proper element, and the whole system is merely a device to give everyone the opportunity for enjoyment and selection instead of a chosen few who might gain access to an artist's studio. This applies particularly to non-objective painting. The architectural and decorative emphasis in such painting requires complete visual independence to be fully enjoyed. Other paintings nudging the attention through the peripheral vision does greatly impair the chance of successful realization, even in an exceptionally well hung show like this one. So imagine each painting all by itself in a room, the structure and decor of which might be beautifully set off and amplified by just such a painting.

This group of Graham paintings shows the artist following paths of expressive organization which seem to set it off as a distinct period in his productive history. In its elaboration of design detail, its exceedingly ornamental aspect, its flavor of elegance, it might be termed the rococo phase of non-objective painting. It is the extreme variation and refinement of the long established school of abstractionism. Like the rococo, it escapes being over-ripe because of the elusive charm which accompanies extreme refinement.

As far as technical means are concerned, the picture surface moves because it is designed into space areas which are mostly parallel in shape and axis to the original picture plane surface. Therefore, their character as units of the picture plane surface is firmly established. Their shift in position and color provides special movement in the two dimensional sense. Shift in depth depends on color. Repetition of the same color in different places establishes the plane in depth which that color defines. In most of the paintings there are two layers of organized design units. First, the layer made by the patchwork of many little color planes; over this, a pattern of lines. This device is reminiscent of the powerful Picabia, although his use of objective forms puts him more in the category of the surrealist. The Grahams being totally abstract, evoke emotional feeling but do not define it. Thus, the observer's reaction is more of a subjective nature, but less exacting.

Comic Opera Here Centennial Week

An event promising not only musical feast but comedy as well, is The Village Singers, or, Rosa's Dilemma, produced by the San Francisco Comedy Opera Guild, directed by Erich Weiler. The Denny-Watrous Management announces this attraction for Saturday evening, July 6, in the Sunset School Auditorium, as a feature of Centennial Week.

The Village Singers is a comic opera by Valentino Fioravanti, with English text by Erich Weiler. Twelve first-chair members of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Mr. Weiler, will support the singers, who are Anne Ashley, petite coloratura soprano; Jane Bender-Heffner, Patricia Bortfield, Harold Hollingsworth, Stanley Noonan, August Lourenzo, Joseph Tissier, Allen Wheaton.

The original plan for the Washington Monument included catacombs to serve as tombs for U. S. presidents when they died.

home. This unnerved Cannonball and he walked Fought. Butts got a hit, Studevant got a hit. The boys batted around and collected five hits and six runs before Cannonball and his military aides succeeded in retiring the side.

The assumption is that Cannonball and his crowd have spent the week reading up on What To Do About a Bunt and are now gathering upon Sunset Field to see how well the have done their home work.

Lions, Terrific!

What a battery! What a line up of potent hitters! Terrific! We are referring to the Carmel Lions Club Softball Team, which played such brilliant ball in their encounter with the Carmel Faculty Monday night that the Faculty was able to beat them only seven runs. And once, for a few minutes during the game, the Lions were actually ahead one run! Final score 12 to 19. Big inning of the Lions was the fifth, when they scored 6 runs on 6 hits. (There are no errors in Lions- Faculty games. Obviously, if a man gets on base, he's made a hit—how else?) This put the Lions out 7 to 6 in the lead. Ecstasy! Then the Faculty came back in the sixth with 10 runs on 10 hits, and though the Lions got a run in each of the following innings and 2 in the sixth, the Faculty had the bad taste to stay in the lead and even collect 3 more tallies before the final curtain. The Lions have decided not to play the Faculty any more. They are saving their strength for the battle with the Monterey Lions set for June 22 on Sunset Field. After their education from the Faculty, the local Lions should be able to swallow their brothers from over the hill in one gulp.

We are NOT printing a box score, though Lion Thomas Heffling wore down three pencils keeping it. Lion Andy Del Monte umpired behind the plate. Gene Ricketts umpired the bases for the Faculty. Playing for the Lions were: Ernie Morehouse, who pitched until relieved by Waldo Hicks. Andy Weimann caught until Andy Del Monte complained so vigorously about having to umpire, instead of being allowed to play for the Lions, that Weimann had to take over his mask. Wilder, who was playing third, caught for Weimann, and Poulos played third. Lloyd Weer played first base all nine innings and got three runs. Bob Weaver, playing left field, was a ball hawk, making sensational catches. Chadwick and Childers played right field, each getting a run at their time at bat. Wilder and Weimann each got a run; Fry, center field, got a tally; Tuthill, short stop, got two runs, Cook, short stop, got a walk. Mobley and Balazs played mid field and Balazs got a run. The Faculty refrained from doing anything desperate in the way of running in substitutes, and everybody got hits and runs, some of them two and three. Dawson pitched in his characteristic lethal manner. Hull caught and gave subtle directions and encouragement to the temperamental hurler. Harget, Rico, Mosolf, Dufur, Fehring, Harris, Craig, Berry and Byrne were distributed around the infield and outfield where needed (Hefling! score keepers are supposed to note these things in the book -Ed) Everybody made sensational catches and played with a brilliance that is expected of such an outfit, and there was only one error, attributed to Mosolf's shirt tail, which engulfed a ball driven at his midriff. When the ball was finally extracted, the runner was safe on first.

Lions play a practice game with the Legion next Wednesday night.

RAIN-CHECK WINNERS

By F. Shea

Mrs. Frances A. Elkins and James Smith were the winners of the weekly Cypress Point Club Rain-Check golf tournament, finishing 7 up in the match-play-against-par contest. Mrs. Elkins shot a 95 with 24 handicap, while Smith scored 85 with 10 handicap.

Tied for second place at 6 up, were the teams: Harry C. Hunt and Charles M. Daniels; Stuart Haldorn and Francis N. Shea.

Other contestants: Commander Pliny Guernsey Holt and Stuart Haldorn, 4 up; Walter E. Egan and Colonel Paul Winslow, 4 up; John B. Morse and T. Carl Thompson, 4 up; Charles Crocker and Emmett Blot, 3 up; Mrs. H. C. Hunt and Harrison Godwin, 3 up; Samuel F. B. Morse and Harry C. Hunt, 3 up; R. W. Woodruff and the Club pro, Henry J. Pudget, 2 down.

In way of explanation for the mention of some names twice, in different matches, it is the policy of the Rain-Check in the event of three-somes or five-somes to give the odd man two partners and thus have him act as two people in the game.

BOXER IN CARMEL

Johnny Greco, ranking contender for welterweight boxing honors, was seen about Carmel last week. After dropping a decision to veteran pugilist Beau Jack in Madison Square Garden two weeks ago, Greco came here for a brief vacation before beginning training for an important bout to be held in New York in the very near future.

Have You Read . . . ?

BY COL. GEORGE W. STUART

Have you read Generation of Vipers by Philip Wylie? It is not as recent as the atom bomb but fully as shocking. If you have read it let's discuss it; if you have not read it, don't; at least don't read it until a day comes when everything goes dead wrong; when it's a "damned old world" and you'd like to wring the necks of all little children and boil adults in oil.

Philip must have felt that. He really needed some Little Liver Pills. Instead he wrote a book. It is not exactly a book but rather a series of essays. There is a Preface, a sort of a Foreword that is really an Afterthought, a warning to prospective readers. And in addition the author considered it advisable to write Directions for Reading This Book. These are essential orientation for enduring The Third Degree given the reader in what follows. Those who succumb to the title and survive will be well repaid and become Initiates in the Order of Castigation.

The style is generally clear and forceful. The language is explosive, prolific with some scientific phraseology and some big and strange words. The ordinary dictionary is no help. For instance, what is "yur". And how would you like to be called a "prickamice" and not know what it is?

The book begins with what appears to be a quotation from the bible (without quotation marks), ending "O generation of vipers" and subscribed, Jesus Christ".

From this springboard the author plunges into Chapter I, "Catastrophe, Christ, and Chemistry". In essay after essay he demonstrates that he is a virtuoso of vituperation. He prosecutes the human race with hard facts and cruel logic.

At this point the reader stands in serious danger of neurosis. Many will probably slam the book across the room or into the incinerator. There is only one escape from such a result and that is a sudden, clear vision of the truth that the author is maliciously laughing at us, that he has taken a world of people as one might take a carload of fruit, pick out all the good fruit and write an intimate and disgusting description only of the stinking rotten fruit. It will take a very strong spirit to hold placidly some brutal speaking, some foul accusations, and ruthless condemnations of human characteristics. Of course there are those so skillful in mental gymnastics that they may escape any sense of personal guilt by the smug comment, "Well, the world is full of bad people, isn't he?"

The reader will be arrested time and again as "Ignorance is not bliss—it is oblivion" and "Science has not instructed—it has only implemented". But in general these diatribes go on and on, panning a long series of "American Specimens", doctors, businessmen, statesmen, professors, congressmen, military men and condemning the American Myths of Momism and Cinderellaism" by showing up their "backsides" according to the scientific principles of opposites.

Those who regard Jesus Christ as divine would do well to skip the chapter on "The Man on The Cross" (or would they?) because the author discusses the character of Christ, the man, while crediting him with a profound knowledge of simple truths and a valiant though futile effort to persuade mankind to "know thyself".

"In conclusion" the author calls himself a clown but he really is The Court Fool, pricking out most offensively, with the stinging rapier-point of his keen wit, all our weaknesses, sins, crimes against humanity, the very causes of wars. He exposes all the rotten spots in our behaviour. He shows us that facts cannot be banished by blindness. He makes us look squarely at the sorry mess of human character that we tolerate. He shames us to our faces. He makes us squirm. It will do no good to try to conceal our shame with further shameful conduct. It will do no good to rave and rant, to scream back at him that he too

POEM FOR THE VERY YOUNG

PART I

*These are the Samson-tongued, the long of limb,
The heart-compelling Young, who trim their dream
To our unalterable design, and leave
Such fragments on the air as God might use
To recreate a world!*

*These are the earth's
Bright fingers reaching high toward golds that gleam
In heavens . . . if the sky be dark and tall.*

*They have not learned the narrow wall that leans
To lesser heights than either man, or star.*

*Theirs are the stream-commanding shoulders pressed
Against this down-swift pouring of the flood,
The roaring of the cataract that hurls
Its fluid wedge against their upward surge.*

(But who shall watch, at dawn, the cunning pool Grow cardinal with blossoming . . . and still?)

*Answer with your heart-beat and your hands:
Are there so many suns, so many moons
To walk your girls beneath
That you can bed them down beneath a cross?
Hear, crystally, the bell toll for a man
Who, eighty-one, had not seen suns enough!
Do you CHOOSE death? The Ingersoll design?
The spend-all fling of self against the ground?*

*This fragile shape of bone and blood and nerve
Is perishable stuff in cold, in heat,
In over-sun or insufficiency!*

*O save the silvered self
For grass fresh-cut, for flowers broken in the early dew.
It is the least we do . . . this dying cleanly
Folded safely in our towering years!*

LISTEN . . .

*This country was treacherously taken.
Fruits were tied to the trees
And honey sprayed to lure the wire-winged birds!
(I have heard your voice, Orestes!
Found the belled moon suspended from branches of shadow
And seen your lifting hand!)*
*Their wounds are like crosses in the breasts of the young.
The winds carry holly for their stinging.
It is a cold time for bees, stiff with the solid dawn
And the angles of winter.*

*Snow slants here
And the space between space is littered with bronze.
Walls divided the sounds, and through the orchards
Echo the calling of crows.*

*Strangers will bury them,
Singing the masses in tongues too exotic for angels.
They were taken by traitors and our sleep is twisted
With knowledge.*

Days Before Yesterday

BY THERESE TAG WHITESIDE

Do you remember the "hug-me-tight" of yesterday? It was the forerunner of the sweater. But in spite of its suggestive name it was not form-fitting. In the days of 1910, everything possible was done to conceal a woman's form. The idea was so to disguise the figure that nobody would suspect one of having any curves or hips or legs.

In those halcyon days, the well-dressed young lady wore a long-sleeved "waist" with a tight, high collar. This blouse was buttoned down the back. The more buttons it had, and the tinier they were, the more stylish it was. I remember what a chore it was to get dressed. I would twist my arms almost out of their sockets to fasten the top six or seven buttons. Then I would start at the bottom and work up. I never could reach the middle buttons, so they went undone.

Our every-day skirts were long—to the ankles, in fact. They were just the thing for traipsing down Carmel's sandy streets.

Underneath (this part is for ladies only) we wore a "corset-cover" with yards of beading. We had to run the pink baby-ribbon back through it every time it was washed. We put on at least two, and sometimes three, long ruffled petticoats, so our (sh!) "limbs" wouldn't "show through". These garments, gathered around the waistline with a draw-string, (as were our long ruffled drawers) made for a nice bunched effect around the middle of the silhouette.

The corset underneath all this was very long and uncomfortable, being generously reinforced with whalebone. It laced up the back and after it was "cinched", there were long strings that went about your waist also. Since your blouse and your skirt were always parting company, there were all sorts of mechanical gadgets (invented by men, no doubt) for keeping body and soul together. These were the bane of my life, as they never seemed to work, and only made me look more untidy.

We were very uncomfortable in tight button shoes over cotton stockings. The shoes seemed to come to a sharp point over the middle toe. Our hats were large and heaped with everything from feathers to cherries. They were pinned with long, vicious hatpins to towers of long, elaborately dressed hair.

I could never understand why it took sensible women so long to dare to have their hair bobbed. In 1910 you would have become a social outcast, even in Carmel (the most enlightened town in America) if you had cut your hair short. There was one exception to this—and only one. If you had scarlet fever, your hair was cut. But no one envied the woman with short hair, for people went about whispering, "Poor thing! She's had scarlet fever," as if she were a leper.

Believe it or not, I was one of the first to have my hair bobbed in Carmel, and that was as late as 1922. My long, heavy braids, stuck full of wire hairpins and tortoise-shell side-combs, when topped with a large hat, garnished with fruits and flowers, was no easy load for my slim neck to hold upright.

I chose a morning when there were few people in the street to sneak over to the Australian Pea Vine, (the gents' barber shop). Even then I weakened and almost changed my mind. I asked the barber to start trimming off a little at a time. When he had finished, in cautious stages, I scarcely knew myself. I had a sort of Colleen Moore bob, and my hair, which had been curly, was absolutely straight.

Never having heard of a permanent wave, I had to wear it that way. I covered my head with a cap and slunk home, to hide out for three days, before I found the courage to show my face in the street again.

Bridesmaid Entertains

Just at sunset, in the lovely flower laden garden of her Carmel Woods home, Cynthia Seaborn and her mother, Mrs. Sexton Berg, greeted a group of friends gathered to honor Ann Brown and her bridal attendants. Mrs. T. W. Brown, Ann's mother; Merry Williams, her matron of honor; and Charlene Raney of Palm Springs, a bridesmaid, were those complimented at the delightful barbecue.

Cynthia will be the other bridesmaid at Ann's wedding at the Church of The Wayfarer today.

On Friday evening, May 31, the Ft. Ord Chapter of Army Daughters held their regular monthly meeting. The group has dinner together the last Friday of every month followed by a business meeting.

At last Friday's meeting at the Ft. Ord Officers' Club the members presented Ann Brown with an antique silver laddle. Ann is marrying Weldon Butler on Friday.

"Chapple" Back

E. Aynsley Chapple, "Chapple", has returned after an eight-months absence which took him to his home in New Zealand.

During the war years he, like many others, had planned to travel through the United States, Canada and Mexico when traveling restrictions were lifted, but now he says he is through with traveling for a long, long, time. Carmel is the place.

Enroute back to this country, he docked in New York, and while on the east coast had an opportunity of seeing something of the New England country. "It is probably heresy," he says, "but in many respects, what I saw there is superior to many places in California as far as countryside goes. However, I still prefer California and that should make it all right with everyone."

Barbecue at White Rock Club

"Netta" and "Doc" Laugenour entertained friends at a barbecue in their summer home at the White Rock Club last Sunday. Those driving up to attend were: Annetta's mother, Mrs. W. T. Lee, and her brother, Warren Lee, Mrs. Louise Pontokoff, Elaine Carter, Lt. and Mrs. S. H. McFall, Fred Libby, and John Manners. The new barbecue pit is quite a deluxe model built by Mickey and Doc with all sorts of gadgets to make the work easier for the cooks.

Visits in Los Angeles

Ruth Marion McElroy with her stepmother, Mrs. George Marion Sr., has gone for a week's vacation in Los Angeles, visiting friends and relatives.

Humming Bird in Bay

Class Enjoys Kuster Reading

On Thursday evening, June 6th, Edward G. Kuster gave a delightful reading of Robinson Jeffers' poems to Mrs. Glenn Clairmonte's class for writers. Mr. Kuster had chosen representative pieces from the different stages of Mr. Jeffers' career, and as he read, it was interesting for the aspiring writers to watch the progress and increasing strength of expression in this famous poet. Mr. Kuster gave full value to such poems as "The Dog's Grave" and "The Day is a Poem," and finally built up to the climax, when he gave the entire dramatic poem entitled "The Bowl of Blood." This stirring interpretation of modern history held the fifty members of the class spellbound.

Last evening this class, in connection with the study of narrative technique, used as their text Homer Levinson's story which is appearing in the July issue of Esquire, and Alan Nelson's story in the June Cosmopolitan already on the stands. The success of these two young Carmel men is encouraging to the class.

Bon Voyage Betay and "Happy"

Thursday night, June 6, a group of friends had a Dutch treat supper at the Lodge wishing Bon Voyage to Betsy Peyton and "Happy" Serrum, who with their children, Jeannie, John, and Tommy Peyton and Penny and Mark Serrum are soon joining their husbands in Germany.

Before dinner cocktails were served at the home of Mrs. Nat Hoskot. Those attending the party were: Mrs. Hamilton Peyton, Mrs. E. M. Serrum, Miss P. J. Bowen, Mrs. Mona Coolidge, Mrs. Robert Starkey, Mrs. Charles White, Mrs. Joan Jones, Mrs. William Dodds Jr., Mrs. Dorothy Skelley, Mrs. B. Palmer Jr., Mrs. W. H. Willoughby, Mrs. Downs Atwood.

Former Pupil is Visitor

Mary Katherine Knight had the pleasure of entertaining a former pupil, this week, Miss Carol Morgan. Miss Morgan, who has been attending the University of Arizona, stopped by enroute home to Chicago. Carol's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Morgan, have many friends in the bay area and Carmel.

Partch a Valley Dweller

Virgil (Vip) Partch, nationally famed cartoonist, has purchased the Vernon R. Post home in the Robles Del Rio tract, and plans to move valleywards around July 1, with Mrs. Partch, and son, Nicky. The Posts, in turn, have purchased the home of Mrs. Helen Robley.

Vip (Last Man in the Army) is still stationed at Fort Ord, where he is on the staff of Panorama.

His cartoons appear regularly in the country's leading magazines, and among advertising accounts he does cartoons for is Wheaties.

He plans to make his headquarters now, and upon his release from the Army, at his new Valley home.

Howards Off Camping

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Howard left Carmel for a northern camping trip on Wednesday, complete with car, camping equipment, trailer and Antoine, who looks like a black poodle, but who is really a human in Centennial disguise.

First stop will be Portland, to visit relatives for a short time, on to Spokane for the same reason, and thence from there to Priest Lake for hunting, fishing and just taking it easy. They plan to be gone about three weeks. In the meantime, their home on Scenic drive will be occupied by Mrs. Howard's sister, Mrs. Paul Budd, and her two children, Carla and Nichola. Mrs. Budd plans to re-join her husband in Honolulu in the late summer.

Douglas Calley Gets Award

Douglas and his father, Ernest Calley, shop instructor at Sunset school, are leaving shortly for Mexico, Mr. Calley having taken a year's leave of absence.

"Bech" Back

Fred Becholdt is back from a visit on the Chico ranch of his daughter, Mrs. Donald Hale. While there, he drove with Mrs. Hale to San Rafael to attend graduation exercises at Dominican College, as his grand daughter, Nancy, was a member of the graduating class. "Bech" is back home now in Carmel, and Nancy is here visiting him and her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Gottfried. She brought with her her room mate, Eleanor Clauson.

Attention Mrs. Ruster

"Never saw your Carmel-by-the-Sea until this week—never saw your local paper until today—never dreamed I'd have to defend my beloved New York—but here goes!" Says a post card signed by Alice B. Matheny, addressed to The Pine Cone Needle Dept. "Re: remarks under Pine Needles, June 7, from Mrs. John Ruster (i.e. Katie Martin). Come, come Mrs. Ruster! Don't you know you are seeing the greatest free show on earth, Just 5th Avenue! Don't you feel the strength and magnitude of the buildings? Don't you feel the pulse and tempo of vigorous living! Are you not partaking of New York's luxurious hotels, night life, intimate cuisines! Smells—ah yes, New York has smells! Wonderful smells. Hungarian goulash at Tokays, onion soup at Ravanoughs, broiled steaks at Gallagers, steamed clams at The Lobster. Succulent smells! Proximity to it is all you need, my friend. It would get in your blood! But offer up your goat if you will—mine goes to being a New Yorker, charming as Carmel-by-the-Sea may be."

Lieut. Corigan Back

Last week Barbara Corigan welcomed home her husband Lt. George R. Corigan, U. S. Navy. Lieut. Corigan was stationed for ten months on various islands in the South Pacific. He was also with Military Government in the Caroline Islands. He is here on terminal leave. The couple have no definite plans beyond relaxing in their Carmel Valley home.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Plesha, newlyweds from Sacramento, are here at Pine Inn Cottages. Mr. Plesha is the nephew of Mary Martin, former Carmelite, now of Del Paso Heights.

Flavin To Address Class

There are only two more sessions of the Tuesday evening Current Literature classes before the summer recess. Next Tuesday, June 18, Mrs. Glenn Clairmonte will give a complete review of the work that has been covered this term. This discussion will embrace the work of Rumer Godden, Margery Sharpe, William Saroyan, Stephen Vincent Benet, Gertrude Stein, Thornton Wilder, Martin Flavin, Logan Pearsall Smith, Robert Nathan, Richard Hagopian, Fred Becholdt and Robinson Jeffers. The members of the class have now read some of the work of each of these authors, as a result of their Tuesday meetings. There will be suggestions made of reading to be done during the summer so that the fall meetings of the class will begin with a good start.

On Tuesday, June 25, the last of the term, the Current Literature class will have Martin Flavin for speaker. All of Mr. Flavin's plays and novels have been discussed in the class and the members feel all the more grateful that he can spare time to be with them for their closing session.

Mrs. Clairmonte's Thursday evening class in narrative technique will continue during the summer.

Elizabeth Smith's Wedding Plans

Preparations are nearly completed for the wedding of Elizabeth Smith to Calvin Robinson on June 30, at 2 o'clock in the Stanford Memorial Chapel, and the reception to follow at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Frederick Smith, in Palo Alto. The Smiths are former Carmel residents. Betty and her two brothers, Rhys and Frederick, attended Carmel schools. Mr. Robinson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. K. Robinson of Cincinnati, Ohio. He has recently been released from the Army, and both young people are attending San Jose State, and will continue with their courses there next fall, after spending the summer in the east, visiting his relatives. The groom's mother will come out from Ohio to be at the wedding, and the bride's aunt and uncle and cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Lake and Betty Lake are coming from Toledo. The latter will sing at the wedding. One of the bridesmaids is to be Miss Charlotte Dawson, Carmel, who was the bride's chum throughout her Carmel school days.

Demo Club

"The Central Valley Project, which would provide California with a power plant even vaster than the T.V.A., is meeting the same violent resistance from powerful interests," Mrs. Perry Newberry said at a meeting of the Carmel Women's Democratic Club last week. "These interests are making every effort to fight the resulting power rates, which would be the lowest consistent with sound business principals. In addition to cheap electric power, the Central Valley Project plans to set up flood control and irrigation to areas formerly arid. It is estimated that the plan will provide employment for 18,000 men during the next fifteen years," Mrs. Newberry continued. "Every voter should ascertain the views of his state and federal representatives on this project."

Other speakers at the meeting were Dr. Horace Dormody, Mrs. Paul Eliel, Mrs. J. M. Rigdan and Mrs. Paul Low.

Miss Clara Kellogg presided and Mrs. Millard Klein was program chairman.

La Collecta Club

There were thirteen members of the La Collecta Club present at the last meeting of June 5 at the home of Mrs. Frank Grouch. The members held election of officers for the following year. Those elected were: president, Mrs. Floyd Smith; vice-president, Mrs. Floyd E. Harper; secretary, Mrs. Arthur Templeman; treasurer, Mrs. Delbert Wermuth; publicity chairman, Mrs. Elmer Douglas.

The club adjourned for the summer, with the next meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. Elmer Douglas on September 4.

Peggy Long Weds

Miss Peggy Long, who has many friends here, was married June 1 to Delbert A. Jones at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. James H. Long at San Marino. The simple ceremony, attended only by the families and a few intimate friends, was performed by Dr. James Henry Hutchins.

The bride wore a dove grey crepe afternoon dress and carried a spray of white butterfly orchids. Her attendant, Miss Ines Garner, wore soft pink with brown accessories and carried brown orchids. The bride also carried the handmade handkerchief which the brides of her mother's family have carried for four generations.

The groom is the son of Mrs. Russell Nowlin of Eagle Rock, and is a graduate of the University of California, where he was affiliated with Beta Theta. His best man was George Rice of Carmel. He received his discharge from the army recently with the rank of captain.

Mrs. Jones is a graduate of the University of Southern California, where she was a Delta Delta Delta.

The young couple will live in Carmel and San Francisco.

Dorothy Geiselhart in San Jose

Dorothy Geiselhart, who has been in the Peninsula Community Hospital, has gone to her parents' home in San Jose to recuperate. She is a member of the Sunset teaching staff.

Peanuts For Nellie

"Not the bird on Nellie's hat, but Nelly, the lady Blue Jay, who is sitting on a nest of eggs in an oak tree, just outside my kitchen," Pop Smith told us yesterday. "The little lady has been quite tame for some weeks, eating peanuts off the window sill. Sometimes, if I forget to leave the peanuts, she comes into the kitchen. Once, about 5:45 a. m., she flew into the front room. You might page Laidlaw Williams."

Graceful, gleaming jewel-toned, plastic lamps for your bedroom... at the PIONEER, next to the Post Office on Dolores. Plastic shaped into lilting curves and flowing spirals in the foot high bases—transparent plastic curves on a black stand—gem-like blue, green, lavender, amber, or rose columns with clinging, shining spirals... Matching plastic shades—stitched in plastic ribbon!... Nothing I have seen has brought home quite so much the wonderful new things we are going to have in this durable, easily-cared-for, beautiful material. If your boudoir needs a new note or a finishing touch, these lamps will provide the glowing spot of loveliness you are seeking... at the PIONEER.

"The proof of the pudding is in the eating!" So they say—and how true! I've been writing about THE CLOISTER ROOM, in the Hotel La Ribera, for over a month now. Last week, two friends of mine, who have been reading the items, went there to dinner for the first time. In spite of my build-up, they were so impressed! Told me every word I'd said was true—and more, too. Naturally, I was pleased—but not surprised. Frankly, it's easy to write nice things about THE CLOISTER ROOM because the food is so delicious—the atmosphere is so pleasant. But no matter how much I write or how often you read about it—like my two friends—you'll never really know how superior this dining room is until you go in and eat there yourself. Then I know you'll be enthusiastic too!

The magic West!... With the Centennial coming, Edith Griffin, in THE VILLAGE BOOK SHOP, on Ocean above Dolores, is featuring such books as—"Old Monterey" by Laura Bride Powers, Anne B. Fischer's "No More A Stranger" and "Bears, Pirates and Silver Lace," "Via Western Express and Stagecoach" by Oscar Osburn Winther. Indian, Cowboy, California and Carmel maps by Jo Mora and his illustrated book "Trail Dust and Saddle Leather." Copies of the poem Raymond Swing and others read on the air—"The Bomb That Fell on America" by Hermann Hagedorn. Need a suggestion for Father's Day? A Book Token will let him select just what he wants—at THE VILLAGE BOOK SHOP.

A happy ship!... in the Navy that means a ship whose crew is filled with esprit de corps—cooperation—pride in organization—comradship. SADE'S is a happy ship! No one-man show at SADE'S... Everyone concerned with the place works at the hundred little details that combine to bring you food and drink fit for a King!—or an Admiral!—(or a General!) No man does a really good job unless he takes pride and pleasure in that job. SADE'S is a shining example of many people working together happily and successfully. It's in the atmosphere—that's what makes it such a pleasant place to go and relax and enjoy yourself. The goodwill is catching—you feel it the minute you walk in and soon you're in the mood yourself. What could be better at the end of a hard day? Come aboard SADE'S happy ship for the cocktail hour, this evening.

By Air Express for Father's Day!... gift sets by Gourelli. DEREK RAYNE rushed these back to you just in time when he returned from his trip to New York. Handsome leatherette kits or gift boxes with the famous Gourelli jousting knights... Several different sets made up of Gourelli items such as these: After Shave Lotion, Shave Soap, Tang Cologne, Verbena Soap, Foot Stick, Wild Lilac Talc, Super Shave Stick, Crest Soap. Gourelli products, exclusive with the DEREK RAYNE, Shop For Men, on Ocean, in Carmel, are by a house that doesn't make clothes and other things but primarily knows perfumes and colognes. This line is for men—not a modified or adapted ladies' line... really masculine and fine.

Lolo Montez!... glamorous, romantic name from the early California days we are all thinking about because of our Centennial celebration... In the window of the THIEVE'S MARKET, on Dolores, is an original portrait of Lolo Montez—painted on copper with an ornate, gilt frame. Art Withey also picked up, in the old mining town of Grass Valley, her tea set... See it in his window, too—handmade pottery with a beautiful dull blue glaze—each piece marked "Lola"... Perfect items for collectors of early Californiana!

Authentic period pieces from the Orient—China, Japan, India, Burma!... No grass slippers or "bazaar" items but the finest, old treasures of the Far East—dating back to the earliest dynasties—at Carmel's newest shop, RICO'S ORIENTAL OBJETS D'ART, on Dolores next to the Carmel Art Association Galleries... Ming cloisonnes—ranging from the primitives. Ch'ien Lung cloisonnes. A magnificent Chinese bed, vermillion with gold leaf carving. Fragile, valuable Coromandel work, carving set with colored clays—a camphor-lined cabinet—an impressive 12 paneled screen. (Two other handsome screens from RICO'S at the galleries next door—one covers 15 ft. of wall space.) Delicate, hammered silver bowls from Burma. Indian enameled brass tumblers. Irreplaceable Foo Chow silk lacquers. A huge Tibetan jug. A female figurine carved from a tiger bone. Ning Hsia ivory and mother-of-pearl paneling. Bronze animal and bird incense burners, candle holders, vases. A Ming fan inset with jade. Canton embroideries. K'ang Hsi mother-of-pearl panels. Really a collector's item—the Chinese character Shou, meaning long life, with the 8 fairies on one side and the 18 storks on the other. Herbert Jackson has, personally, collected all the exquisite pieces at RICO'S, during the many years he spent in the Orient... Here is fabulous, magical enchantment and beauty from the wise and skillful East.

Having a party, luncheon, dinner, reception, club meeting?... CASA MUNRAS Hotel Cottages, in Monterey, is particularly adept at handling these affairs smoothly and with a flair. When I dropped in the other day, there was a huge convention lunch going on—everything was taken care of so efficiently and everyone was having such a good time. The Patio Room made a perfect setting. For any kind of personal or group entertaining—from a stag dinner to a ladies' bridge lunch or a wedding reception—you couldn't improve on CASA MUNRAS.

Half price!... For a limited time, there are two very special bargains at FORTIER'S DRUG STORE, on Ocean... First, velvet-smooth, nylon-light Primrose House Chiffon Face Powder—just half what you'd usually pay—vibrant, new summer shades... The second marvellous buy, Tussy's Eau de Cologne—this price has been chopped in half for you, too. Choose a fragrance to suit your personality—or two or three for your varying moods. You can afford to at this price!... Early Iris Bouquet—"heaven-scent"... Be Mine—subtle, haunting... Mountain Laurel—fresh, Spring-sweet... Safari—exotic, enchanting... All these fine Tussy Colognes at FORTIER'S—where a sale really means something—is an exciting event—an opportunity not to be ignored—as we've all learned to our great joy!

Cocktail napkins that are small works of art... designed and executed exclusively for the GOURMET, in the Pine Inn, by Carmel's Savo... different, intriguing, magically imaginative, artfully appealing. Two of the patterns might be hallmarks of the GOURMET, they are so indigenous to that shop... gold scales—like the 1790 pair in the window... a blackamoor—note the center statue in the GOURMET—in green, blue or chartreuse and black, carrying a cocktail on a tray. Others... a chessman, a quaint, old-fashioned kerosene lamp, a little pot-bellied stove with a steaming teakettle—all equally ingenious. Permanently handpainted. Firm material so they won't be wilted wisps in your guests' hands. Look out, if you like to be the center of attention, for these really original little napkins will steal center stage at your next party.

SENAC'S, up on the corner of Ocean and Mission, will now be open until 11:30 p. m. The new lights are up around the outside and so attractive with their antique bronze lanterns... Roast turkey and fried chicken are the dinner specials at SENAC'S right now... Of course, if you've been there, I don't have to tell you how honestly good the food is!... Everyone is so courteous and pleasant about it all, too, even during the rush at lunch time... Naturally, there's a rush for SENAC'S delicious lunches! And while we're at it—marvellous breakfasts, too. It's always a pleasure to go to SENAC'S!

Earrings... you are simply bound to find the pair you want at JOYCE'S, on Ocean... Every style, size and price in JOYCE'S large and varied stock. From $1.00. For instance: little, silver wings or horse's heads—large multi-colored, jeweled styles—tiny, glowing gems for the small woman—painted porcelain, square drop-earrings with bracelet and necklace to match—golden hoops—pearls on gold... And to wear with fiesta clothes for the Centennial—Mexican silver earrings—plain or combined with black basidium carvings of the ancient gods—or with jade... Indian silver and turquoise, too.

Mexican!... that's the spirit of the coming Centennial. Gay, care-free fiesta time and you will want to be dressed for your part in the celebrating. Where to go for authentic, imported Mexican fashions?... THE MEXICAN IDOL, in Monterey, of course! Bright, print skirts tiered with handmade lace—singing shades of scarlet, purple, blue, green, yellow, orange contrasted with black, white or brown. Enchanting white blouses—handmade lace yokes and trim—or bold, multi-colored embroidery. These clothes show off your tan so strikingly! A truly stunning note, go international and combine them with colorful straw sandals and handbags from Haiti! Senorita, usted es muy bonita!

Prints and more prints... the smart, wearable print dresses you love at the CINDERELLA SHOP, on Ocean. A range of sizes and prices... Dashing, sophisticated patterns or neat, delicate designs... So many fine materials—sharkskin, Shantung, linen, raw silk, one like the wonderful silk that used to be in men's shirts, silk jersey, pure silk!... Handsome raw silk (new in prints)—aqua and brown—or flesh and violet. Tiny red, blue and gray designs on white sharkskin. Bold spiral stripes in peacock blue and shocking pink on black silk—push-up sleeves. A Persian-looking dinnery dress with a harem skirt—paisley print, moss green, Chinese scarlet and brass. Precious pure silk two-piece suits—aqua with new money bag pockets and ceramic buttons—powder blue with pointed scalloping. An Oriental pattern—water lilies, lutes, tassels, lanterns. An intriguing chartreuse silk with just a touch of red and black in the ballet dancer who pirouettes across its surface... I want them all!

Leatherworkers!... Remember that MODELS AND HOBBIES, on Junipero near 6th, next to the Plaza Fuel Co., has a wonderfully complete and attractive stock for you... Those magnificent skins, of course... New clasps for handbags—silver or brass or plastic—the latter clear or in vibrant blue, green, turquoise... Kits for mak-

$17,000 Increase In School Budget Planned By Board

The total school budget for the coming year will show an increase in expenditures of over $17,000 as compared with the one adopted a year ago, it was announced at the school board meeting Tuesday night. This will necessitate an increase of about 25 cents in the tax rate, raising the total to $1.38 per $100.00.

The budget has not been entirely worked out and a special meeting of the board will be held for final decisions on Tuesday, June 25, at 7:30 p. m.

Proposed building of a life science room this summer received a set back from the Civilian Production Administration, which denied the board's application for a permit because of the veterans' housing needs.

With an eye to future building, the board agreed to request the architects, Ernest Kump Company to confer on requirements for the auditorium, a students' union and a swimming pool.

Teacher contracts were given Harold Grande, social studies, John Farr, music, high school, Richard Hawden, eighth grade. Mrs. June Shaw was engaged to serve as financial secretary starting June 24 on the acceptance of Mrs. Virginia Brooks' resignation as of the end of the school year. Resignations were also accepted from Mrs. Marie Crull, who is leaving to join her husband, and from Glen Watson, who is returning to Santa Rosa Junior College as an instructor.

The board agreed to rent the kindergarten room at Sunset to Mrs. Skelley who plans to establish a play school there during the summer months, at a rental of 10 per cent of gross income from fees.

is a weak, sinful human being, fouling his own nest, a traitor to his own kind. The inescapable fact remains, staring us in the face, that it is a bad world only because we, ourselves make it bad. We all say that we want to live in a better world. What can be done about it? The author points the way. He frankly admits that his book is "noisy" (he might also admit that it is noisome) and he confesses that it has taken long "just to say that if we want a better world we will have to be a better people".

access could be provided would be by opening Lincoln Street through the Fourth street canyon."

It was the opinion of the council and not Mrs. Brewer that the only way access could be provided would be by opening Lincoln Street.

The "other property owners" who requested that the lane be scraped was Mrs. Gilbert McFarland, but since her name did not come conspicuously into the discussion at the city council meeting it didn't get into the Pine Cone, so the neighbors weren't able to misunderstand her motives and refuse to speak to her.

BEVERLY GOING EAST

After all the excitement of her sister's wedding, Beverly, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Dowgiallo has still more in store for her. Beverly is flying to Florida via Washington D. C. to visit her brother, Ensign Harvey Gardner at Ft. Lauderdale. She will return in time for school in September, when she will be a junior at Carmel High.

NIGHT HAZARDS

Darkness increases the general pedestrian hazard by 63 per cent; and almost triples the hazard to pedestrians in the 40 to 64 year age group, the California State Automobile Association warns.

Cultural Body Is Shaping Up Well

NEW YORK — The Philippine Cultural Foundation is now definitely going to be established. Messrs. Barrett and O'Gorman are in Manila at the invitation of President Osmena looking over the situation.

A big amount will be raised in the United States by voluntary contribution to finance the Foundation. The work will comprehend many fields of culture, education and training of Filipinos. Books will be collected and Filipinos will be trained to specialize on different things. The Foundation will play an important part in Philippine rehabilitation.

DANGER POINTS

Accident hazards can be reduced by slowing down at potential danger points, the California State Automobile Association advises. These points include unprotected and blind intersections, blind curves, hill crests, places where children are or might be playing, and under all conditions at night.

Mrs. Lansdowne Entertains

Mrs. Kathryn Lansdowne was a luncheon hostess on Monday in the Cloister Room of the Hotel La Ribera honoring Mrs. Lynn Kennicott, president of the Delta Woman's Club of Yuma, Arizona, and Mrs. Verne Skillman, president of the Carmel Woman's club. A gardenia corsage was presented to each of the honorees. A number of the Carmel club members were in attendance. Bridge followed the luncheon.

Surprised at Own Wedding

Despite their plans for only a family wedding, Marian and Leslie Dunn were surprised by fifty or more of their friends, who gathered at 12:30 last Sunday at the Church of the Wayfarer to wish them happiness as they drove away in a shower of rose petals to their honeymoon in the Santa Cruz Mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Dowgiallo's daughter and Leslie Dunn decided not to wait for June 20 and a large wedding. Saturday afternoon they informed the bride's mother they would like a family wedding the following afternoon. Mrs. Dowgiallo called the Reverend Dr. James E. Crowther, who performed the ceremony, had the church decorated in baby's breath and carnations, and there was also an organist, so Marion and her groom could come down the aisle to the traditional wedding march. Marian's attendant, Sally Setchel, was very attractive in a grey afternoon dress. Mrs. Dowgiallo, lovely in Navy Blue. They, as well as Marian's sister Beverly had corsages of red roses and white gardenias.

The beautiful bride came down the aisle on the arm of her father in an exquisitely tailored light grey pin striped suit, a tiny white hat, and black accessories. Her corsage was of white gardenias and red roses.

Oscar Currier served as best man to the groom. Mrs. Dunn is the son of Mrs. Lewis E. Diehl of El Paso, Texas. He was recently discharged from the Navy. Mr. and Mrs. Dunn after spending the summer in Carmel will leave in January for Boulder Colorado, where Leslie is completing his course in electrical engineering at the University of Colorado.

Uzzell-Evans Ceremony

Last Sunday, lovely Joyce Patricia Uzzell became the bride of Hugh Arthur Evans at the Church of the Wayfarer, with the Rev. James E. Crowther officiating. Both bride and groom are members of Carmel families.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Robert M. Littlefield (the former Mary Jane Uzzell) while best man was Lt. Robert Littlefield.

The bride wore a stunning dove grey suit with a princess style waistcoat, matching hat and veil and black accessories. Her corsage was made up of butterfly orchids.

Mrs. Littlefield wore a smartly-designed soldier blue suit with matching accessories and her corsage was a sprig of red orchids.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Ann B. Uzzell, was charming in a brown gaberdine suit with green accessories and wore a corsage of flame gladiolas, while the groom's mother, Mrs. Emma Evans, wore a powder blue suit with red accessories, and her corsage was red antherium.

Both bride and groom attended Sunset grammar school and Monterey high school, and both served their country during the war years, she with the Waves, and he as a lieutenant in the Army Air Corps with 35 missions completed over Europe. He has received the DFC with three Oak Leaf Clusters, and his group received a distinguished unit citation with two Oak Leaf Clusters.

The new Mrs. Evans received her A. B. from San Jose State College and was president of the Phi Kappa Pi sorority there. Mr. Evans attended Salinas Junior College and the University of Nevada.

Sister of the groom, Doris, was married in May to Lt. Col. Benjamin B. Kercheval, and they are now in Fort Lewis, Washington, where he is awaiting orders.

Following the ceremony, a delightful reception was held at the home of the bride's mother for the wedding party and their guests. Among the guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Littlefield; Miss Clarend Carrera of Los Angeles, a houseguest of Mrs. Evans, and the bride's brother, Richard Leroy Uzzell, who received his discharge from the Navy in time to attend the ceremony.

The newlyweds left for Lake Arrowhead for a two weeks' honeymoon. They will spend the summer in Carmel.

Pal Antie Party

The Monterey Chapter Business and Professional Womens' Club held its Annual Pal Antie Party on May 23. Thirty-eight members gathered at the House of Four Winds to enjoy a delightful supper. Kitty Ragsdale was winner of the costume prize, and Wilma Campbell of Monterey won the door prize.
